

New FUSION Button

Submitted by Josh on August 7, 2014 - 8:51am

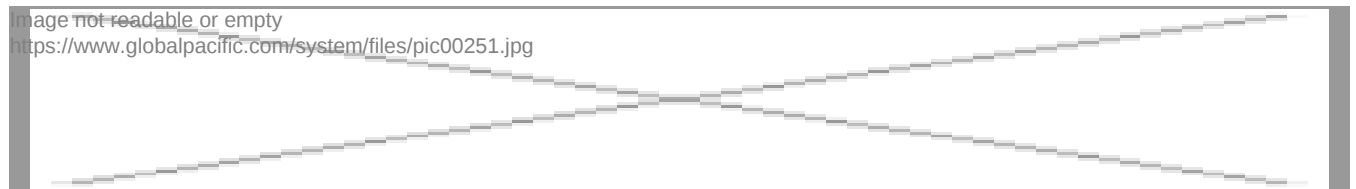

New button for ?DSIGN? electronic application...

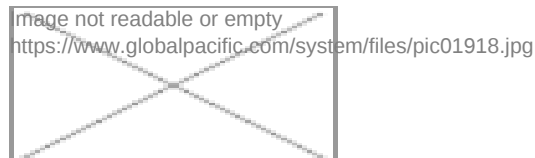

Recently, we announced that the launch date of our new electronic application, DSign is scheduled for 2015. Before this application is made available to all representatives, a pilot project will be held this fall to test the design and use of the application and obtain feedback from participating advisors. We want to ensure that your user experience will live up to your expectations.

For the purpose of the pilot project, starting August 12th, a new "Save for eApp" button will be available in the FUSION illustration software. This button will allow pilot participants to generate an illustration file to attach to DSign.

For non-participants, clicking the button unintentionally will not affect your illustration process. The software will simply ask to choose a location to save the file. Whether you save the file or cancel the action, your illustration will remain unchanged and can be continued without any impact.

Over the coming months, we will keep you informed about the progress of the pilot project and the implementation of this application in the entire network.

Source URL: <https://globalpacific.ca/bulletins/desjardins-insurance/2014-08-07/new-fusion-button>